CCSI Inks Two New Strategic Business Partnership Agreements

IBM OEM Agreement

CCSI is proud to announce its recently expanded strategic business partnership with IBM. This new partnership allows CCSI to purchase IBM's DB2 Universal Database software products and support directly from IBM and bundle it into the FootWorks product line. This allows a seamless, one-stop solution to our clients, and direct product support from IBM for CCSI.

iPort Agreement

CCSI is also proud to announce that we have finalized our exclusive reseller agreement with iPort. This agreement gives CCSI the exclusive rights to bundle and resell the xTrak data extraction software within the footwear industry. Safeguards have also been built into the agreement which gives CCSI the option to acquire the rights to the xTrak source code. This will provide continuity of support to our clients in the unlikely event that iPort should go out of business.
